

Andrew J. Lawrence - Troop G

Trooper Andrew J. Lawrence died in a traffic accident on September 12, 1926.

Trooper Lawrence sustained a serious leg injury when the motorcycle he was operating was forced from the road near the City of Hudson. His leg was pinned beneath his machine and was so badly crushed that it was amputated at the Hudson City Hospital. He died five days after the accident from complications caused by gangrene infection.

Trooper Lawrence, who served in World War I, joined the State Police in the Fall of 1922 and was assigned to SP Troy at the time of his death.
