

John J. Cahill - Troop G

Trooper John J. Cahill, 26, was killed instantly when his motorcycle sideswiped a car on the Albany-Schenectady Road (present day Central Avenue, Route 5). Trooper Cahill was in pursuit of a speeder when he lost control of his motorcycle and struck the car. He was thrown from his motorcycle and died of a fractured skull.

Trooper Cahill, a native of New York City and a three-year SP veteran, was assigned to Troop "G" at the Troy Barracks.