

Nicole L. "Nikki" Ives-Hayes

WILLSBORO — Nicole L. Ives-Hayes, 36, died June 24, 2006, unexpectedly in a motorcycle accident in Tupper Lake, doing what she loved most. She was born Jan. 20, 1970, in Elizabethtown, the daughter of William and Faye (Graham) Ives. Nikki graduated from Willsboro Central School in 1988. She had numerous jobs, touching many hearts along the way. Her most recent job was at Bub's Pizza and Deli in Elizabethtown, where she had a way of making both her co-workers and customers laugh. Nikki also did day care and worked at ACAP Headstart. She was most happy when she was around children. Nikki had a way with children that only her passionate heart could produce. Nikki is survived by her husband, Larry Hayes of South Glens Falls; her mother, Faye Ives of Willsboro; her father, William and Cindy Ives of Keeseville; her mother-in-law, Cynthia and Sonny Altri of Elizabethtown; her father-in-law, Larry and Wendy Hayes of Brant Lake; her sister, Heidi Ives of Elizabethtown and Jessica Robare of Willsboro; one brother, Daniel Wells of Willsboro; a stepsister, Ashlea Baker of Keeseville; her grandmother, Jean Graham of Elizabethtown; a great-grandmother, Cora Lashway of Elizabethtown; her niece, Julliana Meyer and a nephew, Troy Light of Elizabethtown. Also survived by her adopted family, Thurston, Antonia, Phoebe, Edwina and Sophie Clarke of Willsboro; a special aunt Marsha and uncle Mike from Elizabethtown and uncle Gary from Mineville; her other mother, Brenda Monaghan and Brenda's son, Jeff Bridge. She is also survived by many other aunts, uncles and very special cousins and friends. Nikki is predeceased by her soulmate, John Michael Bridge, on April 19, 2005; a cousin, Gary John Colburn Jr., July 16, 1998; paternal grandparents, Katie and Frank Ives; and her uncle, Lloyd Graham.

